

Report on Soft Skills Workshop at PIMS Department

Introduction:

The Department of Podar Institute of Management Studies (PIMS) organized a two-day workshop aimed at enhancing students' soft skills and providing insights into career opportunities in the IT sector. The workshop, held on 14 April to 15 April 2024, featured distinguished speakers who shared valuable knowledge and practical strategies to empower students in their personal and professional development.

The first day of the workshop focused on communication skills, with Mr. Mohit from Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) delivering an engaging session on the importance of effective communication. The second day featured Dr. Samapti Guha, who enlightened students about presentation skills, conflict resolution, and career paths in the IT industry.

Day One Report:

Communication Skills by Mr. Mohit Ji from TATA Institute of Social Sciences (TISS)

The first day of the workshop commenced with a lecture by Mr. Mohit from Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) on the importance of communication skills in the professional world. He emphasized the need for effective communication in various aspects of life, including personal interactions and professional settings.

Mr. Mohit engaged the students with interactive sessions, group activities, and real-life examples, highlighting the significance of clarity, conciseness, and confidence in communication. The session was well-received by the students, who actively participated and expressed their eagerness to apply the learnings in their daily lives.

Day Two Report:

Presentation Skills and Career Opportunities by Dr. Samapti Guha ,TISS

On the second day of the workshop, Dr. Samapti Guha, an eminent speaker and expert in the field, delivered an insightful session on presentation skills, conflict resolution, and career opportunities in the IT sector. Dr. Guha shared valuable insights into the art of delivering effective presentations, managing conflicts in professional settings, and navigating career paths in the ever-evolving IT industry.

The session was enriching and interactive, with Dr. Guha encouraging students to develop a holistic approach towards personal and professional development. She shared practical tips and strategies, empowering students to overcome challenges and excel in their careers.

Conclusion:

At the conclusion of the workshop, Mr. Mukesh Kumar, Assistant Professor and workshop coordinator, delivered a heartfelt vote of thanks to Mr. Mohit, Dr. Guha, and all the students for their enthusiastic participation and valuable contributions. He expressed gratitude to the management for organizing such a beneficial workshop and encouraged students to apply the knowledge gained to achieve success in their future endeavors.

The two-day workshop concluded on a positive note, leaving a lasting impact on the students and equipping them with valuable skills and insights essential for their personal and professional growth.

The objectives of the seminar were:

- To enhance students' communication skills and emphasize their importance in personal and professional settings.
- To provide students with practical knowledge and techniques for delivering effective presentations.
- To equip students with conflict resolution strategies applicable in various professional scenarios.
- To enlighten students about career opportunities in the IT sector and provide guidance on career development.
- To encourage students to actively participate, engage in discussions, and apply the learnings in their academic and professional lives.